

Applying the principle of social distancing in care homes – Guidance from NAPA

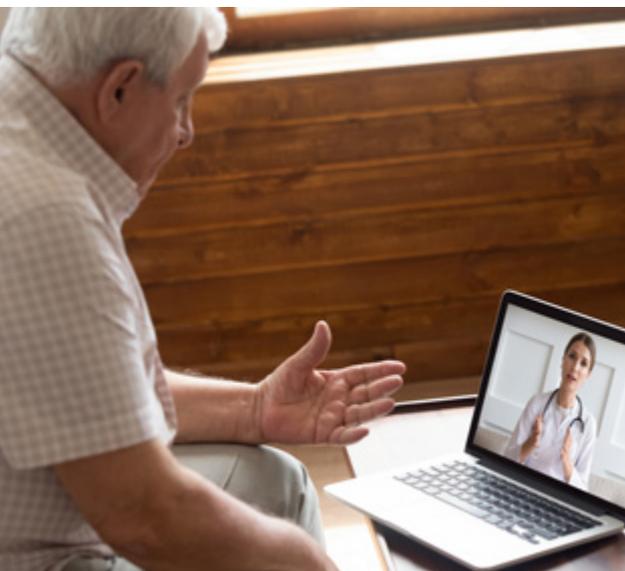

These measures - which we have developed for our members - are intended to protect people at greatest risk who are most likely to have to go to hospital.

The points listed below are NAPA's suggested ways of working, they are based on government guidance and best practice principles, they are not legal guidelines. They are intended to support the provision of activity and engagement should the principle of social distancing be applied in a care home.

Having something to do can make people feel useful and valued. Talking, laughing, singing and just being together can help improve wellbeing and reduce loneliness. In the event of the principle of social distancing being applied, all opportunities for engagement are likely to be on a one to one basis.

Applying the principle of social distancing in care homes – Guidance from NAPA

1. Activity and care teams should use existing care and support plans in order to develop individual engagement plans for each resident in their care
2. The plans should include opportunities for activities over a 24-hour period and should not always depend on the presence of a member of staff to initiate engagement
3. The plans should be kept in each resident's room. This is for easy access by all staff members (do not share sensitive information)
4. Care home managers should identify a staff member to help maintain contact between residents and their loved ones
5. Activity and care teams should encourage family contact through the means of technology
6. Care home managers should enable the use of electronic devices to maintain contact between residents and their family and friends
7. All staff to offer support and encouragement through one to one interaction with residents, in accordance with the required COVID -19 restrictions. The provision of activity is not the sole responsibility of one person; the whole home can be fully involved in an activity and engagement-based model of care
8. Activity and care teams should properly discard or sanitise activity supplies according to the care home's Infection control policy
9. Activity and care teams should ensure items are not shared between residents
10. Activity and care staff should be enabled by care home managers to liaise with family members and or purchase necessary supplies for each resident's room, in order to promote one to one engagement and activity. Our members suggest the following supplies:

- contact details of friends and loved ones
- a mobile phone or tablet
- decks of cards
- large print books
- spiral notebooks
- colouring pencils
- watercolours paints
- notice board for signs to connect with loved ones
